THE NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE HUMANITIES

“Democracy demands wisdom and vision in its citizens”

—National Foundation on the Arts and the Humanities
Act of 1965

In order “to promote progress and scholarship in the humanities and the arts in the United States,” Congress enacted the National Foundation on the Arts and the Humanities Act of 1965.
This act established the National Endowment for the Humanities as an independent grant-making agency of the federal government to support research, education, and public programs in the humanities. Grants are made through Federal/State Partnership, four divisions (Education Programs, Preservation and Access, Public Programs, and Research Programs), and the Office of Challenge Grants.

GENERAL INFORMATION

THE HUMANITIES

The act that established the National Endowment for the Humanities says “The term ‘humanities’ includes, but is not limited to, the study of the following: language, both modern and classical; linguistics; literature; history; jurisprudence; philosophy; archaeology; comparative religion; ethics; the history, criticism, and theory of the arts; those aspects of social sciences which have humanistic content and employ humanistic methods; and the study and application of the humanities to the human environment with particular attention to reflecting our diverse heritage, traditions, and history and to the relevance of the humanities to the current conditions of national life.”

Work in the creative or performing arts—such as the writing of fiction or poetry, painting, sculpting, composing or performing music, acting, directing, and dance—is not eligible for support by the National Endowment for the Humanities. Persons interested in support in these areas should contact the National Endowment for the Arts, 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20506. Critical, historical, and theoretical studies of the arts, however, are eligible for NEH support.

PRESIDENTIAL DIRECTIVES

The National Endowment for the Humanities participates in two government-wide Presidential Directives. Executive Order 12876 was promulgated in order to help strengthen and ensure the long-term viability of the nation’s Historically Black Colleges and Universities, and Executive Order 12900 was issued by the White House on behalf of educational excellence for Hispanic Americans. The NEH encourages applications that respond to these Presidential Directives.

SPECIAL INITIATIVE

A special initiative is an undertaking by the Endowment to encourage proposals in all grant-making categories for projects relating to a specific subject or event. Proposals are currently solicited for the following initiative:

A NATIONAL CONVERSATION ON AMERICAN PLURALISM AND IDENTITY

“All of our people—left, right, and center—have a responsibility to examine and discuss what unites us as a country, what we share as common American values in a nation comprised of so many divergent groups and beliefs. For too long, we have let what divides us capture the headlines and sound bites, polarizing us rather than bringing us together.... This is to be a national conversation open to all Americans, a conversation in which all voices need to be heard and in which we must grapple seriously with the meaning of American pluralism.”

—Sheldon Hackney, Chairman
National Endowment for the Humanities

Applications responding to this Endowment initiative should be submitted to regular Endowment programs and will be judged according to the criteria stated for those programs.

In order to expand, inform, and enrich this national conversation, the Endowment invites proposals that address any of the complex topics and themes related to pluralism in America. The Endowment is particularly interested in how people--differentiated by ethnicity, race, or culture--have interacted within the framework of our national society (or, for comparative purposes, in other pluralistic societies) and what commonalities may have emerged as shared American values.

The goal of this initiative is to support humanities projects that will place questions about American pluralism and identity in historical and critical perspective, thus animating the national conversation on our shared values and differences and illuminating the evolving ideal suggested by our nation's motto, E Pluribus Unum. (As noted above, the focus of this initiative is on ethnic, racial, and cultural differences although other important differentiating and unifying factors such as class, gender, religion, or region may be interwoven where appropriate.)

Applications responding to this Endowment initiative should be submitted to regular Endowment programs and will be judged according to the criteria stated for those programs.

For examples of projects under this special initiative, please write to:

INTERNATIONAL RESEARCH ORGANIZATIONS

This program makes grants in support of fellowship programs and other research grant programs administered by national organizations, learned societies, and American overseas research centers that have expertise in the promotion of research on foreign cultures. The fellowships and research grants awarded by each organization enable American scholars to pursue research abroad and collaborate with foreign colleagues. In assessing an application from an international research organization, the Endowment emphasizes the intrinsic importance of the organization's programs to the advancement of thought and knowledge in the humanities, the quality of the research previously supported by the organization and the productivity of its grantees, the effectiveness of the administration of the programs, and the openness and equity of the application procedures.

Individual scholars interested in applying to any of the international research organizations receiving Endowment support should write to the organizations themselves. A list of currently funded international research organizations and centers for advanced study is available from the Endowment on request.

ELIGIBILITY

Only United States organizations, societies, and overseas research centers that are constituted for nonprofit purposes; have been declared tax-exempt by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service; and are financed, governed, and administered independently of institutions of higher education are eligible to be funded by the International Research Organizations program. Because the purpose of the Endowment's support is to enhance existing research grant programs, eligibility is limited to institutions that have established and maintained research grant programs with their own or other private funding.

By accepting an Endowment award, a grantee certifies that it meets all these criteria for eligibility. Should the Endowment determine subsequent to making an award that the recipient is not eligible to receive Endowment funding, the grant will be terminated, and the grantee will be required to return any grant funds it has received.

All applicants are encouraged to correspond with program staff early in their planning about questions of eligibility.

NEH-supported organizations must give all eligible applicants equal consideration; they may not restrict applications to members of a scholarly organization or to persons affiliated with institutional members of a scholarly organization.

WHAT THE INTERNATIONAL RESEARCH

ORGANIZATIONS PROGRAM DOES NOT SUPPORT

The International Research Organizations program does not provide support for fellowships or research grants for research undertaken in the pursuit of an academic degree; the preparation of textbooks; projects that focus on pedagogical theory, research in educational methods, tests, and measurements, or cognitive psychology; projects that are directed at persuading an audience to a particular political, philosophical, religious, or ideological point of view, or that advocate a particular program of social action or change, and projects that examine controversial issues without taking into account competing perspectives.

CONDITIONS GOVERNING INTERNATIONAL RESEARCH ORGANIZATIONS GRANTS

1. Eligibility for NEH Research Awards Through International Research Organizations

Persons seeking support for work in pursuit of a degree are not eligible for NEH research grants through the International Research Organizations program. Foreign nationals are not eligible to apply unless they have lived in the United States for the three years immediately preceding the application deadline for the grant. NEH-supported organizations must give all eligible applicants equal consideration; they may not restrict applications to members of a scholarly organization or to persons affiliated with institutional members of a scholarly organization. They may not require an administrative or application fee. They may not accept applications from any officer, employee, member of the board of trustees or advisers, selection committee member, or officer, employee, or board member of a parent organization until at least one year has elapsed since the person's last service in such a position.

2. Publicity

NEH-funded organizations should publicize the availability of NEH research grants and their application procedures clearly and effectively so that all qualified potential applicants may learn of the full range of grant opportunities.

3. Selection Procedures

Each organization should ensure fair and informed selection of recipients of NEH funds. Staff, officers, board members, and trustees of the organizations may not serve as voting members on committees that select NEH grantees. The same restrictions apply to staff, officers, and trustees of umbrella organizations.

An organization may supplement the stipend from its own funds, but in no case may the total amount that an individual receives exceed his or her salary for the portion of the academic or calendar year equivalent to the tenure period of the award, except for customary allowances for travel and other research expenses.

4. Stipends

Stipends and allowances for recipients of NEH funds are determined in accordance with an organization's usual practices, although the maximum amount that may be awarded to an individual from NEH funds is $30,000. The maximum stipend of $30,000 is applicable to any six- to twelve-month period; research grants of four months in length may carry a maximum stipend of $20,000, and five-month awards a maximum of $25,000. An organization may supplement the stipend from its own funds, but in no case may the total amount that an individual receives exceed his or her salary for the portion of the academic or calendar year equivalent to the tenure period of the award, except for customary allowances for travel and other research expenses.

5. Other Benefits and Services to NEH-funded Scholars

Organizations must grant recipients of NEH funds all benefits, services, and accommodations normally accorded other grantees.

6. Reports on the Selection Process

After the completion of each competition and the award of research grants, the organization must provide the Endowment with a full report on its competition, from publicity campaign to selection of grantees. In particular, the organization must provide:

- a) copies of printed material used to publicize the availability of research grants in the humanities;
- b) a description of the audience at which the publicity was aimed and a list of the journals, newsletters, institutions, and organizations to which publicity materials were sent;
- c) a detailed account of the procedures used to select grant recipients, including the names, institutions, and fields of the people who reviewed the applications; and instructions and criteria of selection supplied to reviewers;
- d) a list of the NEH grantees selected, annotated with their fields or departments, institutions, a brief description of their projects, and the country or countries in which they will be conducting their research; and full applications, including résumés and project proposals and indicating tenure periods and stipend amounts;
- e) a comparative statistical analysis of the NEH grantees and the group of applicants eligible for NEH awards by field, type of institution, academic rank, and geographical distribution; and numbers of applications and awards made overall in the organization's competitions;
- f) a comparison of the grantees and eligible applicants in each separate grant category with the previous year's grantees and eligible applicants, program by program, and an analysis of any discernible statistical trends in recent years or sudden changes from the previous year.

Recipients of NEH funds should see that all scholarly articles, books, and other publications resulting from research supported by their awards contain an acknowledgment of NEH support.

7. Acknowledgment of Endowment Support

Organizations are expected to include an acknowledgment of the support of the National Endowment for the Humanities in all its publications that result from or pertain to the use of NEH grant funds. This requirement includes materials prepared by the organization to advertise the availability of research grants, materials that describe the procedures for the selection of grantees, announcements of grantees selected, and reports on the substantive work accomplished by NEH grantees. Persons supported in whole or in part by NEH funds must be so identified, even when other sources of funding are involved, and must be informed that their work is being supported by the National Endowment for the Humanities. In addition, organizations are expected to insure that all scholarly articles, books, and other publications resulting from work conducted by recipients of NEH awards through the organization contain an acknowledgment of NEH support.

8. Publications by Recipients of NEH Awards

An organization should list in its annual reports to NEH all books, articles, and monographs appearing during the year being reported that were prepared by NEH grantees supported under the current grant or previous grants and should provide NEH's Division of Research Programs, unless otherwise advised, with one copy of all such books, articles, and monographs.

9. Responsibilities of Recipients of NEH Funds through International Research Organizations

Recipients of long-term fellowships or research grants (four to twelve months) must devote full time to their research projects and may not accept teaching assignments or undertake any other major activities during the tenure of their award. In addition, these scholars must submit final reports on their activities and accomplishments to NEH's Division of Research Programs. Recipients of NEH funds should also see that all scholarly articles, books, and other publications resulting from research supported by their awards contain an acknowledgment of NEH support.

THE EVALUATION PROCESS

Each Endowment application is assessed first by knowledgeable persons outside the agency who are asked for their judgments about the quality and significance of the proposed project. About 1,200 scholars, professionals in the humanities, and other experts serve on approximately 250 panels throughout the course of a year. Panelists represent a diversity of disciplinary, institutional, regional, and cultural backgrounds. In the Centers for Advanced Study program, the judgment of panelists normally is supplemented by individual site visit reports or reviews solicited from specialists who have extensive knowledge of the specific subject area or technical aspects of the application under review.

The advice of evaluators is assembled by the staff of the Endowment, who comments on matters of fact or on significant issues that would otherwise be missing from the review. These materials are then forwarded to the National Council on the Humanities, a board of twenty-six citizens nominated by the President of the United States and confirmed by the Senate. The National Council meets three times each year to advise the Chairman of the Endowment. The Chairman, who is appointed for a four-year term by the President with the consent of the Senate, takes into account the advice provided by this review process and, by law, makes the final decision about funding.

QUESTIONS FOR THE REVIEW OF APPLICATIONS

- o How important to the advancement of thought and knowledge in the humanities are the grant programs for which funding is being requested? To what extent do they meet a need that is not met in any other way?
- o How strong is the applicant organization's previous record in sponsoring these programs? Have those to whom the organization has granted funds been productive? Have their scholarly contributions been important and high in quality?
- o How effective are the direction and administration of the programs?
- o How sound and practical are the organization's procedures for attracting applications? How effective is the publicity for the competition for research grants?
- o How expert and equitable is the process of selecting grant recipients?
- o What are the quality and scope of any research collections, facilities, services, or other resources that the applicant organization provides to the grantees for their work? In the case of residential programs, how effective are the organization's efforts to encourage intellectual exchange among grantees and local scholars?
- o Is the proposed budget request well justified?
- o Are there any changes in the programs or in the procedures for administering them that should be recommended?

PRELIMINARY PROPOSAL

At least two months before the October 1 application deadline, organizations planning to apply are urged to submit a draft of the narrative and budget sections and the appendices of the proposal. This preliminary step will permit the staff of the Endowment to assess eligibility, advise on the preparation of the application, call or write the applicant about the proposal, and, if appropriate, arrange a site visit to take place after the formal application has been submitted. Staff responses to preliminary proposals are not a part of the formal review process, which normally begins with a site visit.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

The application should include the following parts: a cover sheet, a table of contents, a narrative description of the organization's program or programs, a budget, appendices (including résumés, which may be provided in any format but should include pertinent information concerning an individual's education, experience, and other qualifications), and a statement of the history of any federal grants received by the organization. The form for the cover sheet is enclosed.

GENERAL ADVICE

All applications to the Endowment should present, in a clear, coherent manner, a sound intellectual justification for the proposal and an appropriate plan of work. Successful applications are usually free of jargon, clichés, pedantry, unsubstantiated claims, unnecessary repetition, and imprecise prose. Titles of projects should be brief, descriptive, and substantive. Proposal narratives should be limited to twenty-five or fewer double-spaced pages, with appendices used to provide appropriate illustrative material. Résumés should be concise and current.

Prospective applicants are advised to review carefully the list of questions (see page 9) that evaluators of International Research Organizations applications are asked to address. The issues raised in those questions should be addressed in the appropriate sections of the proposal. Applicants also are advised that it is preferable to follow the format outlined below.

NEH APPLICATION COVER SHEET

The NEH Application Cover Sheet and instructions for completing it are included in this booklet.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

The table of contents should list the parts of the application, and the subdivisions within them, with page numbers.

NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION

Applicants may have much of the information requested in this section in their annual reports, auditors' reports, and brochures. Applicants should include such material and refer to it when preparing a detailed description that includes the following sections:

Description of the Organization and its Programs. This section should contain clear and concise statements about the nature of the organization and the importance of the work it supports for the advancement of thought and knowledge in the humanities. Applicants should describe the organization's purposes, history, administration, and governance, as well as the usual sources of funding. In the case of organizations that maintain overseas offices or centers, the description should include the location of each office or center; the administrative structure and size of the staff employed there; the size and scope of library holdings or special collections available on site or at nearby institutions; the resources and facilities available for study, research, and discussion (such as offices, computer equipment, word processors, typewriters, carrels, and common rooms); and any services that would be available to recipients of NEH research grants (such as secretarial or research assistance, photocopying, meals, and housing or housing assistance).

Applicants should describe the activities of their grantees from several recent years, reporting on their research and any informal or structured collegial activities in which they participated. In the case of overseas centers, applicants should address the ways in which the center nurtures collegiality among the scholars once they are in residence.

Nature of the Research Grant Programs. Applicants should describe the history, purpose, scope, and focus of the research grant program or programs for which support is requested and the place of the program or programs in relation to the overall structure and goals of the organization. This description should include information about any special fields of interest on which the grant program focuses and, in the case of residential programs, any particular mix of scholars that the organization attempts to achieve. Applicants should describe the activities of their grantees from several recent years, reporting on their research and any informal or structured collegial activities in which they participated. In the case of overseas centers, applicants should address the ways in which the center nurtures collegiality among the scholars once they are in residence. This would be an appropriate place to describe the centers' seminars, colloquia, luncheon symposia, and any other ways in which the center seeks to foster intellectual interaction.

To this section the applicant should append:

- o lists of all grantees, their fields, their home institutions, and their project topics for the current year and for at least the two preceding years. This list should distinguish long-term (four- to twelve-month) from short-term grantees. If awards are made through separate internal programs or committees within the organization, separate lists should be provided for each program or committee. Applicants for renewal grants should identify recipients of NEH funds on the list and provide brief paragraphs describing their projects.
- o a comparative statistical analysis of the applicant pool and the resulting awards in each program for the current year and each of the two preceding years, distinguishing applicants eligible for NEH funds from others and including an explanation of any significant trends and a statement of any efforts that the organization is making to influence the trends. Fields of study, types of institution, academic rank, and geographical distribution are the most important general categories of analysis.
- o a bibliography with full citations of books and articles that are attributable to its previous grants. Those attributable to grants made with NEH funds should be so designated.

Publicity Procedures. Applicants should describe the methods used to encourage a broad and diverse group of scholars to apply to their programs. Target audiences for publicity should be identified along with the means by which the applicant attempts to reach those audiences.

Applicants should append lists of publications, organizations, and other institutions receiving announcements as well as copies of announcements and posters used to publicize the program. An assessment of the effectiveness of past publicity efforts should also be included.

Applicant organizations must provide an explanation of how they assure an equitable and informed selection process.

Selection Procedures. Applicant organizations must provide an explanation of how they assure an equitable and informed selection process. Applicants should provide full details on the selection process, including a description of the procedures and schedule, the criteria of selection used in making awards, and the conflict-of-interest rules by which the selection committee deliberations are governed. Applicants should describe the criteria by which members of selection committees themselves are chosen and the years of service for which they are retained. In particular, applicants should describe the kind of balance they try to achieve in their committees with respect to discipline, institutional and geographical diversity, and other factors. In cases where awards are made through more than one program or committee, applicants should describe the selection procedures used by each program or committee and explain how and by what criteria funds are allocated among programs or committees to award to individual scholars. Any variations in the kinds or sizes of awards granted should also be explained.

Applicants should append annotated rosters of the selection committees, rating panels, or slates of outside reviewers for the three preceding years with committee members identified by name, department, institution, and field of expertise; a statement of the guidance provided to persons who take part in the selection of NEH award recipients and a copy of the written instructions and selection criteria given to them; copies of form letters used in responding to inquiries from potential applicants; and application forms and instructions.

Program Evaluation. The kinds of reports requested from grantees should be described as should the results of the most recent assessment of the value to the organization's programs. Copies of reports from recipients of NEH funds for the preceding three years should be appended. Institutions that have not made awards with NEH funds should attach reports from their long- or short-term postdoctoral grantees.

Program Staff and Administration. Applicants should identify the permanent professional staff in the United States and abroad who are attached to the program or programs for which support is requested. They should explain how responsibility for each program is divided among the staff and the extent to which they will be directly involved in the administration of the program. Brief résumés for the director of the center or overseas offices and for the principal staff involved in the grant programs should be included in an appendix.

Program Funding. Applicants should list the stipend amounts and lengths of tenure of the grants offered. Applicants should explain whether they offer a set amount for grantees' stipends, match salaries, respond to budgets submitted by grantees, or use some other method to determine the stipends. Applicants should also note whether stipends are offered for living expenses only or include amounts to defray travel expenses.

Applicants should describe any proposed changes in the organization's focus, interests, purposes, scope, structure, or grant programs and should explain how these changes will affect the work of scholars supported through the grant programs.

In this section, applicants should also provide an annual budget for their complete research grant program, including funds budgeted from the organization's own resources and from other sources. This budget should be divided into categories of expenses similar to those in the NEH budget described below, and it should clearly distinguish long-term from short-term research awards. If the organization's program now operates with the support of an NEH Centers for Advanced Study or International Research grant, the applicant should list separately the funding for the NEH grant program (consisting of NEH outright and matching funds as well as the gifts used to release the matching funds). If the organization has received an NEH Challenge Grant to endow fellowships or other research grants, the applicant should explain how the annual income from the endowment generated by the Challenge Grant is currently used. In addition, the applicant should provide information about the extent to which the organization can continue its grant programs without additional NEH funding. For example, the applicant should describe what reductions in numbers of grantees in the humanities and length of tenure would be necessary without NEH support.

Future of the Research Grant Program. Applicants should describe any proposed changes in the organization's focus, interests, purposes, scope, structure, or grant programs and should explain how these changes will affect the work of scholars supported through the grant programs. Any changes in the number of grantees (NEH-supported and other) or stipend levels needed to achieve the organization's purposes should also be explained.

PROPOSED BUDGET

The applicant should prepare a budget that includes all expenses charged to outright and matching funds from NEH as well as expenses that are charged to gifts from third parties that NEH is being asked to match. The budget should show expenses, year by year, broken down into categories: the costs of grant stipends and travel allowances, listed by program; proportionate costs of publicity and selection, including printing, postage, and travel and per diem expenses for selection committee members; and allowable administrative costs for qualifying organizations. These are the only allowable project costs in this program.

Organizations that provide on-site services overseas to recipients of NEH funds or organizations that process more than seventy-five applications eligible for NEH support and award more than twenty grants fully with NEH funds may apply for limited support for associated administrative expenses. Support for administrative expenses will not exceed twenty-five percent of the amount budgeted for stipends or other regranted funds for research. Allowable administrative costs would include, for example, staff salaries, expendable office supplies, postal and long-distance telephone costs, and indirect costs.

Charges for administrative cost recovery must be based on actual amounts of stipends or other regranted funds awarded, and auditable documentation must be kept to support these costs. As a matter of policy, the Endowment does not anticipate increasing an award to cover additional costs resulting from the award of more funds in stipends or regrants than originally budgeted.

A sample budget is provided on page 25.

Types of Grant Support. The Endowment supports projects with outright funds, matching funds, and a combination of the two.

Outright Funds: Outright funds are awarded by the Endowment to support approved projects and are not contingent on additional fund raising by the grantees.

Matching Funds: Matching funds, by contrast, require a grantee to secure gift funds from third parties before federal funds are awarded. Endowment matching grants are made on a one-to-one basis and are intended to stimulate private support for projects in the humanities by offering potential donors the incentive of doubling the impact of their gifts.

Because matching awards enable the Endowment to provide support to a greater number of significant but often costly projects, applicants are encouraged to request complete or partial support in the form of matching grants. Whenever possible, applicants requesting matching funds should identify potential sources of gift funds at the time they submit an application to the Endowment.

Combined Funds: Applicants may also request a combination of outright and matching funds from the Endowment. For example, if a project will cost $40,000 and the applicant expects to receive $10,000 from an eligible third-party donor, the applicant should request $10,000 in matching funds. The balance of the project's costs, $20,000, may be requested in outright funds.

The Endowment may offer funding at a different level than that requested. In some instances, the Endowment may offer matching funds only, or it may offer a combination of matching and outright funds in response to a request for outright funds.

Grant Period. The grant period encompasses the entire period for which Endowment support is requested in the current application. All project activities and the expenditure of project funds, that is, grant funds and third-party funds that are used to release federal matching funds, must occur during the grant period. The grant period may extend to four years if funds are requested for program publicity and selection in the year preceding the first award of research grants.

APPENDICES

The appendices should be limited to supplementary but essential materials. These materials should include:

- a) résumés from the relevant members of the organization's staff;
- b) a list of members of the organization's board of trustees;
- c) lists of publications of previous NEH and other grantees (NEH grantees should be clearly identified as such, and full citations should be given for all publications);
- d) lists of grantees (NEH and other) for the current and at least the past two years, including disciplines, institutional affiliations, and project topics of grantees (applicants for renewal grants should identify recipients of NEH funds on the list and provide brief paragraphs describing their projects);
- e) statistics on applications and awards as described above in the section entitled "Nature of the Research Grant Programs" (page 11);
- f) lists of publications, organizations, and institutions receiving announcements of the grant programs;
- g) copies of publicity materials, application forms, and form letters used in responding to inquiries from potential applicants;
- h) lists of selection committee members who chose the grantees for the current and last two years and copies of instructions and criteria for evaluation provided them; and
- i) copies of reports from long-term (four months or more) grantees for the last three years.

STATEMENT OF HISTORY OF GRANTS

If the organization has received previous support from any federal sources, including the Endowment, in the five years preceding this application, please list the sources, dates, and total dollar amount of each contribution. If the organization has had a long history of support, the sources and contributions may be grouped and summarized so that the list will not exceed one page.

FORMAL SUBMISSION

A checklist for assembling the final application is included at the front of this booklet.

Each copy of the application should be stapled or bound securely and assembled in the following order:

1. NEH Application Cover Sheet

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY STATEMENT

Endowment programs do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, disability, or age. For further information, write to the Equal Opportunity Officer, National Endowment for the Humanities, 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, DC 20506. TDD: 202/606-8282 (this is a special Telephone Device for the Deaf).

COMPLIANCE WITH OTHER FEDERAL LAWS

Applicants should be aware that a number of other federal laws and regulations apply to Endowment-supported projects. Depending on the project, these may include compliance with

- o the NEH Code of Ethics governing research, publication, and public programming in projects related to American Indian, Aleut, Eskimo, or native Hawaiian peoples;
- o Department of Labor minimum compensation requirements; and
- o a congressional preference for the purchase of American-made equipment and products.

Other requirements may apply, and applicants are encouraged to consult with Endowment officers early in the application process.

CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

By signing and submitting a proposal the individual applicant or the authorizing official of the applicant institution provides the applicable certifications. When a prospective applicant is unable to certify regarding the nondiscrimination statutes and implementing regulations, a drug-free workplace, or lobbying, that person is non eligible to apply for funding from NEH. When an applicant is unable to certify regarding federal debt status or debarment and suspension, an explanation must be attached to the proposal. The explanation of why the certification cannot be submitted will be considered in connection with the Endowment's funding determination. Failure to furnish a certification or an explanation shall disqualify the applicant from receiving an award from the Endowment.

The certifications are material representations of fact upon which reliance will be placed if the NEH determines to fund the application. If it is later determined that the applicant knowingly provided an erroneous certification or did not comply with the requirements, in addition to other remedies available to the federal government, the NEH may seek judicial enforcement of the certification (nondiscrimination statutes); may terminate the award for cause or default (federal debt status and debarment and suspension); and may suspend payment, suspend or terminate the grant, or suspend or debar the grantee (drug-free workplace). Any person who fails to file a required certification shall be subject to a civil penalty of not less than $10,000 and not more than $100,000 for each failure.

SUBGRANTEES AND SUBCONTRACTORS

Certification responsibilities extend beyond the grantee to subgrantees and subcontractors under certain circumstances:

Debarment and Suspension. The applicant agrees by submitting this proposal that should the proposal be funded by the Endowment, it shall not enter into any project-related transactions with a person who is debarred, suspended, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in this covered transaction, unless authorized by the NEH. The applicant further agrees by submitting this proposal to include without modification the following clause in all lower tier covered transactions (as defined by regulation) and in all solicitations for lower tier covered transactions: (1) The prospective lower tier participant certifies, by submission of this proposal, that neither it nor its principals are presently debarred, suspended, proposed for debarment, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in this transaction by any federal department or agency; (2) Where the prospective lower tier participant is unable to certify to any of the statements in this certification, such prospective participant shall attach an explanation to this proposal.

Lobbying Activities. Those who received a subgrant, contract, or subcontract exceeding $100,000 at any tier under an Endowment grant are required to file a certification and, when necessary, a disclosure form to the next tier above. All disclosure forms shall be forwarded to the NEH Grants Office by the grantee.

These certifications, which appear in the Appendix to these instructions, should be read before signing Block 12 of the application cover sheet. Additional information on these certifications is available: via modem through the NEH Bulletin Board, 202/606-8688, see "Grant Recipient Information"; from the NEH World Wide Web site, <http://www.neh.fed.us/>, select "Administrative Information"; or from the NEH Grants Office, room 310, Washington, D.C. 20506, 202/606-8494.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR COMPLETING THE NEH APPLICATION COVER SHEET

The Office of Management and Budget requires federal agencies to supply information on the time needed to complete forms and also to invite comments on the paperwork burden. NEH estimates the average time to complete this application is forty hours per response. This estimate includes the time for reviewing instructions; researching, gathering, and maintaining the information needed; and completing and reviewing the application. Please send any comments regarding the estimated completion time or any other aspect of this application, including suggestions for reducing the time to complete, to the Director of the Office of Publications and Public Affairs, National Endowment for the Humanities, Washington, DC 20506; and to the Office of Management and Budget, Paperwork Reduction Project (3136-0134), Washington, DC 20503.

Block 1—Individual Applicant or Project Director

Item a. Enter the name and mailing address of the organization staff member who will be chiefly responsible for the project.

Item b. In the space provided, enter the number corresponding to the applicant's or project director's preferred form of address:

1—Mr. 2—Mrs. 3—Miss 4—Ms. 5—Professor 6—Dr.

Item c. Enter the applicant's full telephone number with area code and, if applicable, extension. Whenever possible, one of the telephone numbers listed should be a number at which a message can be left.

Item d and Item e. Applicants for grants in the International Research Organizations program need not complete these items.

Block 2—Type of Applicant. All applicants for grants in the International Research Organizations program should be applying through an organization or institution. Item b has already been indicated on your form.

The Type, International Research Organization, is preprinted on your form. Identify Status as either Private Nonprofit or Unit of State or Local Government. Example: Type: International Research Organization Status: Private Nonprofit.

Block 3—Type of Application. Check appropriate type:

Item a. New—applicants requesting a new period of funding, whether for a new project or for a project previously funded by NEH, should check this box.

Item b. Supplement—applicants requesting additional funding to a current NEH grant should check this box.

Block 4—Program to which Application Is Being Made. If application is being made under the Endowment's initiative described on page 3, please indicate the number corresponding to the initiative in the space provided after Endowment Initiative:

03P—National Conversation on American Pluralism and Identity.

Block 5—Requested Grant Period. Grant periods begin on the first day of the month and end on the last day of the month. Project activities need not begin on the first day, but all project activities must take place within the requested grant period.

Block 6—Project Funding. Enter here the appropriate figures from the Project Budget that is part of your application.

Gift money that will be raised to release any federal matching funds should be listed in Block 6d as cost sharing.

Block 7—Field of Project. Indicate the category and code from the listing on the reverse side of the cover sheet to indicate the specific humanities field that best describes the content of the project.

Block 8—Descriptive Title of Project. Enter a brief title that clearly identifies the project and its humanities content. This title should be informative to a nonspecialist. NEH is obliged to be as clear as possible to the public about awards that it makes. The descriptive title will be used for this purpose whenever possible, but the Endowment staff may assign a different working title.

PRIVACY ACT

This information is solicited under the authority of the National Foundation on the Arts and Humanities Act of 1965, as amended, 20 U.S.C. 956. The principal purpose for which the information will be used is to process the grant application. The information may also be used for statistical research, analysis of trends, and Congressional oversight. Failure to provide the information may result in the delay or rejection of the application.

Block 9—Description of Project. Provide a brief description of the proposed project. Do not exceed the space provided.

Block 10—Will This Proposal Be Submitted to Another Government Agency or Private Entity for Funding? This information is sought without prejudice to the application. NEH frequently cosponsors projects with other funding sources. If not applicable, indicate "N/A."

Block 11—Institutional Data

Item a. Indicate the name of the institution and the city and state of its official mailing address.

Item b. Enter the institution's employer identification number.

Item c. Indicate the name and title of the person who is authorized to submit applications on behalf of the institution or organization and to provide the certifications required in Block 12.

Item d. Indicate the name, mailing address, form of address (see instructions for Block 1b), and telephone number of the person who will be responsible for the financial administration of the grant if an award is made. For example, at many universities the provost, vice president, president, or chancellor is the person "authorized" to submit an application (see item c), but the actual administration of the project—such as, negotiating the project budget and ensuring compliance with the terms and conditions of the award—is the responsibility of a grants or research officer. It is the latter person who should be listed here.

Block 12—Certification. The Endowment is required by government-wide regulations to obtain from all applicants certifications regarding federal debt status, debarment and suspension, and a drug-free workplace. Institutional applicants are required to certify that they will comply with the nondiscrimination statutes. When an applicant requests more than $100,000 in grant funds, it must also certify that no federal funds have or will be paid to any person to influence the funding decision for the specific proposal that is being submitted for consideration. In the unlikely event that an NEH applicant has used or plans to use nonfederal funds for this purpose, it must request, complete, and submit a standard disclosure form. These certifications, which appear in the Appendix to the guidelines, should be read before Block 12 of the application cover sheet is signed. Additional information on these certifications is available: via modem through the NEH Bulletin Board, 202/606-8688, see "Grant Recipient Information"; from the NEH World Wide Web site, <http://www.neh.fed.us/>, select "Administrative Information"; or from the NEH Grants Office, room 310, Washington, D.C. 20506, 202/606-8494.

 Organizations that provide on-site services overseas to recipients of NEH funds or organizations that process more than seventy-five applications eligible for NEH support and award more than twenty grants fully with NEH funds may apply for limited support for associated administrative expenses. Support for administrative expenses will not exceed twenty-five percent of the amount budgeted for stipends or other regranted funds for research. Allowable administrative costs would include, for example, staff salaries, expendable office supplies, postal and long-distance telephone costs, and indirect costs.

GRANTEE RESPONSIBILITIES

If funding is approved by the Endowment, the grantee will be responsible for insuring that the grant is administered in accordance with the following grant provisions:

- o The grantee must have a financial management system that records separately within its general accounting system the receipt and disbursement of grant funds and cost-sharing contributions and that monitors the expenditure of these funds against the approved budget. (A checklist of the basic financial management standards for nonprofit organizations is available from the NEH Grants Office, Room 310, 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, DC 20506.)
- o All commitments and obligations of grant funds and cost-sharing contributions are to occur during the grant period.
- o Project activities are to be carried out in accordance with the workplan provided in the approved application. The following changes require written approval in advance from the Endowment:
 - o changes in the project's scope or objectives;
 - o the replacement of the project director, the codirector, or other project personnel specifically named in the award notice.
- o Adequate documentation of the time spent by all project personnel on grant activities must be maintained by the grantee.
- o Unless advised to the contrary, all materials publicizing or resulting from grant activities shall contain an acknowledgment of NEH support.
- o The grantee shall be directly responsible for the administration and supervision of the project.

ELIGIBLE GIFTS AND DONORS

Only gifts of money, including the net proceeds from the sale of noncash gifts, that will be used to support budgeted project activities during the grant period are eligible to be matched with federal matching funds. The source, date of transfer, and amount of the gift or net proceeds from the sale of a noncash gift must be documented in the applicant's records.

Both restricted gifts (gifts that are given specifically in support of a project) and unrestricted gifts (gifts that may be used at the recipient's discretion) are eligible to be matched if they are donated directly to the applicant.

If a gift of money is given to an individual or organization associated with the project rather than directly to the applicant, that gift normally will not be deemed eligible to release federal matching funds. The only exception is if the donor has given the gift specifically in support of the project and control over the expenditure of these gift funds is transferred to the applicant.

Applicants should note that the following items are not eligible to be matched with federal funds: federally appropriated funds, deferred and noncash gifts, income earned from gifts after they are transferred to the applicant, and income received from any fees for participation in project activities.

Ineligible donors include the applicant who will carry out the project and any institution or individual who is involved in project activities and who will receive some sort of remuneration from project funds. To avoid any possibility of conflict of interest, a gift should not be used to release federal matching funds when there is the appearance that the donor might benefit in any way by giving a gift to a particular project.

APPENDIX

These certifications should be read in full before signing Block 12 of the application cover sheet. Questions about the certifications or requests for the standard form for disclosure of lobbying activities should be addressed to the NEH Grants Office, room 310, National Endowment for the Humanities, Washington, D.C. 20506. Telephone: 202/606-8494.
